$3.50-$4 Tax Hike Charted

By Tim Greene

Andover voters, turning out in impressive fashion, were charting a course in town meeting action this week which could result in a tax rate increase of $2.50 to $3.

It took two complete sessions and part of a third to adopt a municipal budget for the coming fiscal year, as the voters examined tax cap options and recommendations of administrators and the finance committee before taking action.

As the third session opened Wednesday night, best estimates set the tax rate for next year between $65.50 and $66, up $3.50 from its current $62. The estimate does not include anticipated increases in state aid, as indicated would be forthcoming by Gov. Edward J. King. The tax rate forecast does include financing a revaluation program, whether it would be adopted through town meeting action or not.

Voters had not reached the revaluation issue as the TOWNSMAN went to press on Wednesday. But, if the money is not voted at the session, the state will do the work anyway and charge the town, thus producing an anticipated expense against the tax levy.

Most of Monday and Tuesday nights at town meeting were spent voting on the first 76 line items in the budget and haggling over the propriety of voting to override the tax cap legislation which was not yet a law.

The first 22 line items of the budget, the School Budget Allowed Grudging 5.3% Increase

Futile Effort Gerald Silverman, of Duston Road, a former Andover educator addresses town meeting pleading for consideration of an 8.2 per cent increase in the school budget. Following five votes, the meeting settled on granting the school department a 5.3 per cent increase Tuesday night.

By Linda S. Corbett

Town Meeting Tuesday night gave the school committee a 5.3 percent budget increase for next year, even as Governor King announced he is about to sign a four percent tax cap into law on Beacon Hill.

A two-third majority of voters elected to override the cap, but not until they had teased the schoolmen with the possibility of getting even more.

The crowd of nearly a thousand was in enough of a spending mood that the committee decided to take advantage of a town counsel ruling and up their budget goal. Atty. Al Daniels said that if town meeting rejected the 5.4 percent budget presented by the committee, the committee would have to come back with another budget — either higher or lower.

School Chairman Elaine Viehmann indicated that they would return with the 8.2 percent budget they recommended a few weeks ago.

The defeat of the 5.4 percent budget was practically inevitable then, with voters who wanted more for the schools joining forces with those who wanted something nearer the tax cap. But a two-thirds majority for a higher figure was harder to come by, and attempts at 8.2, 7 and 6 percent budgets were all defeated before the town, nearly an hour later, settled on a 5.3 percent increase.

That budget totals $11,985,283 — or $9,430,000 in personal services and $2,555,283 for other expenses — compared to $9,020,000 in salaries and $2,362,036 expenses in this current year.

In his presentation for the school committee, Joseph Finn noted that the 5.4 percent figure was some $1.2 million less than the administration's original request for an 11.2 percent increase, and would mean the loss of some busing services, at least 10 teachers, new personnel, summer school, the school physician, part of the gifted and talented and athletic programs, custodial aid in the cafetrias, and driver education, as well as a decrease in aide time from approximately 12 hours per class per week to nine-and-a-half hours.

Mrs. Viehmann reminded the audience, however, that the one part of fiscal autonomy the school committee will retain under a tax cap, is the authority to transfer funds from one account to another as it seems necessary.

Finn said the school committee had supported its 8.2 percent budget for several weeks (despite attempts by the selectmen and finance committee to get it nearer the four percent cap), in an effort to be fiscally prudent and still maintain the quality of education in Andover schools.

He said they voted last week to come down to 5.4 percent, in response to the general tenor of a recent public hearing on the budget. But, he went on, the school committee felt that anything below 5.4 percent would "unquestionably deteriorate the quality of education for the children of Andover."

In fact, he said, a minority opinion on the committee (There had been a 4-1 vote to get down to 5.4 percent) felt they had already gone over the line.

Finn showed graphs which illustrated that Andover's per pupil cost is not even in the top 10 in the Northeast Region of Massachusetts, and finally urged passage of the 5.4 percent budget.

"We're not trying to cut back any further," he said. "It would cause irreparable damage."

Free Diabetes Detection Clinic

A free diabetes detection clinic for persons 60 years of age or older will be sponsored by the Department of community Development-Health Dept., with the co-operation of the Lawrence General Hospital's elderly health program on Thursday, May 24.

The clinic will be held at the Haven, 11 Essex St., from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. Persons wishing to attend the clinic must make an appointment by calling the Dept. of Community Development, 475-7820 between 1 and 4 p.m. Transportation to the clinic can be arranged by calling Andover Haven at least 24 hours in advance.

A simple painless blood test for diabetes will be done by elderly health nurses from L.G.H.'s elderly health program and from Andover.

Elders participating in the clinic must eat this sample meal two hours before their scheduled appointment. One cup (eight ounces) orange juice, one cup (eight ounces) milk, one cup (eight ounces) cornflakes or one cup (eight ounces) oatmeal, one tablespoon sugar, 2 slices non-diet (2 ounces) toast, 1 tablespoon of jelly, 1 egg (if desired), coffee or tea without caffeine. The complete meal must be eaten.

After eating breakfast, persons should not drink anything other than water, eat, smoke, chew gum, candy or cough drops, until the test is done. Known diabetics or patients being treated for diabetes by their doctors should not attend. Diabetes Mellitus is a metabolic disorder caused by too little insulin being excreted from the pancreas. Insulin aids in the digestion of sugars and starches.

High School Band, Chorus Entertain

Town meeting was opened Monday night by Town Moderator James Doherty at 7:30 p.m. at the Phillips Academy Cage.

Beforehand, while voters were filing into the Cage, the Andover High School stage band played Glen Miller tunes and the high school choir sang.

The invocation was offered by Rev. Dr. Jack L. Daniel, Jr., paster of Free Christian Church, and Selectman Chairman Edward M. Harris led the meeting in the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag.

Alcide J. LeGendre was appointed a trustee of the Cornell Fund Monday night by town meeting vote.

Town Meeting 'In The Dark'

The lights went out on town meeting Monday at 8:50 p.m. for about ten minutes.

According to George Neilson, business adminstrator for Phillips Academy, the lights go out every night at that time for about ten seconds when the academy switches from its own power plant to Mass. Electric. The lights stayed out for as long as they did because once off, the lights require several minutes to heat up again.

Neilson said he had overlooked the switchover when planning for town meeting, but he would take measures to prevent darkness form closing in on the rest of town meeting.

Hearing On Solid Waste Due

On May 16, at 7:30 p.m. the Merrimack Valley Planning Commission and the Merrimack Valley Transportation Policy Advisory Group will sponsor a public meeting to present and discuss proposed alternatives for providing access to the site of the proposed Northeast Solid Waste Resource Recovery Facility in North Andover. This meeting will be held in the auditorium of the Merrimack College Library in North Andover.

At the request of the Massachusetts Department of Public Works, the Merrimack Valley Planning Commission has, for the past several months, been studying the access situation with regard to the proposed site. The purpose of the public meeting will be to review the study progress to date and present, for discussion purposes, the preliminary alternatives that have been developed and are being analyzed as possible feasible site access alternatives.

Public reaction is important in the evaluation of the site access alternatives. Therefore, all interested individuals are encouraged to attend the public meeting and express his/her comments on the alternatives that will be presented. Copies of the draft study tasks completed to date, including the preliminary alternative analysis task are available and may be reviewed prior to the public meeting by visiting the Merrimack Valley Planning Commission offices at 5 Washington St., Haverhill, MA 01830.

Crafts Show Saturday

There will be an opportunity to find something original and special at this year's fourth annual Crafts in the Park on Saturday, May 12 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. (rain date: Sunday, May 13).

This annual fund-raising event is sponsored by the Andover Chapter of the American Field Service and the Community Service Department. The proceeds are used to award scholarships which bring AFS students to the community and send Andover students abroad on either a summer or full year program.

This year's show is limited to 125 craftsmen representing a six state area. By limiting the number of booths the committee hopes to achieve greater variety in the crafts represented as well as to allow ample space for customers to wander about. An added attraction this year will be live musical entertainment.

Those in charge of the craft show are; chairman, Michelle Spiedel assisted by Sue Wahr; hostess chairman, Nina Asgeirsson, and Jane Fuller in charge of the refreshment stand.

Tax Cut Meeting

The Campaign for Tax Cuts, Jobs and Services will hold a district meeting Lawrence on May 14, 7 p.m. in the Lawrence Public Library. Senator William Wall and Representatives Arthur Khoury, Gerald Cohen, James Miceli and Joseph Hermann have been invited to attend. Spanish Program At Academy

A total immersion program, in which students from area high schools will speak only Spanish, will be held at Phillips Academy, May 29-31.

P.A.'s Chapin House will host the 22 students who will live at the school during the three-day project, and more students will visit the campus during the days to participate.

The program will include 23 speakers, all of whom use Spanish regularly in their careers. The program is meant to demonstrate the value of being bilingual.

Other activities will include sports, class sessions, social activities, singing, a job-opportunity discussion and dining together. Teachers from the five participating schools — Andover Academy, the Brook School, and Andover, Methuen and Lawrence High Schools — will be present at all activities.

The Total Immersion Program (TIP) was organized by Dorothy Goclowski as part of a sabbatical year project.

According to her description of TIP, "a foreign language is used continuously and exclusively for an extended period of time during which the participants are being involved in a variety of activities."

"Total immersion is a little like being in a foreign country," she said.

Andover ABC (A Better Chance) is accepting applications from qualified couples for the position of resident directors of the ABC House at 134 Main Street. Elementary School Reports

Mr. Arthur Iworsely is a physical education teacher at West. He has been teaching it for eleven years, some of which was spent teaching at St. James Catholic School in Nebraska. He now also coaches track at the Andover High School.

He says he likes teaching physical education because you see a child improve in skill, ability, and physical strength. Mr. Iworsely also likes seeing individuals grow up from kindergarten to sixth grade, as he teaches all grades in the school.

In his spare time, he collects obsolete U.S. coins and currency and first day cover stamps. He supports energy conservation and has solar panels installed in his roof. He likes working on his garden and his house. He likes traveling, and he has camped out in 47 of the 50 states. His goal is to visit all 50, including Alaska and Hawaii, before traveling out of the country, although he has already gone to Canada.

I had a lot of fun interviewing Mr. Iworsely, one of the reasons being that I, also, collect coins. He said that he enjoyed being interviewed by me.

Our Health

Two 5th grade classes, at Sanborn School, are having a health unit during school. They are learning about why not to smoke, and what happens when you smoke.

Mrs. Rogers and Mrs. Durant are teaching their homeroom about their health, so when they are older, they won't smoke, take drugs, etc. The teachers have this model of a person that has an indent in his mouth where you can put a cigarette. He has a pump in back, and a teacher pumps it to make him smoke a cigarette. After he smokes the cigarette, a teacher will take out two glass bottles with cotton in them. When he inhales, the tar and nicotine discolor the cotton. The bottles and cotton represent your lungs and the discoloration happens to your lungs when you smoke.

Maps

Susan Middleton, of Mrs. Caplan's homeroom and Mrs. Lynch's social studies class, made an outstanding map of the United States. She made the map for a social studies project. The map was put on display in the corridor next to the main office. Mrs. Aram was one of the many teachers who admired the map and requested that Susan bring it down for her class to see. She explained how she made the map and also answered some of the questions the students had.

Squirrels

Red squirrels weave a round nest of leaves, twigs and bark twenty inches across with a five-inch room inside. They are the most unsociable of the tree squirrels and venture only about 700 feet from the nest, according to Massachusetts Audubon.

There's more to the cut of a diamond than the shape

The beauty of a diamond is how it handles light. A properly cut diamond will allow its 58 facets to act like tiny mirrors reflecting the light back through the top in a brilliant, rainbow blaze.

A shallow diamond appears larger, but less brilliant because much of the light has leaked out the bottom and is not reflected to your eye.

A diamond cut too deep is less brilliant and appears black in the middle because the light has leaked through the sides.

Cafe Internationale?

Now Towne Deli has acquired an international flavor!

We were recently patronized by visitors from China, Israel and Greece who were loud in their praise of our food and the way we served it. You've heard tales of how much a cup of coffee costs in London and Tokyo these days, let alone a full meal! Inflation may be taking its bite all around the U. S. of A. but our visitors lauded not only the excellent quality of our food preparation and the large portions we served but how reasonable all of this was. They quickly caught on to what our "regulars" have known all along, Towne Deli is the place to be.

So we have now added an international touch to the host we serve . . . a knowledgeable and interesting melange of townspeople, professional and businessmen all of whom know a good thing when they taste it.

As we have said all along, our success begins with the product and when we add to that our bright, sunny atmosphere and people serving you who care — what else is there to say . . . that's Towne Deli!

Fair Feature

"Poco, The Happy Oil Drop," was among the features of the annual fair at West Elementary school last weekend. Obtained through the efforts of James Flaherty, the ride provided many happy moments during the day.

East Jr. High Happenings

By Jennie Caffrey

Annual school-wide testing began Tuesday and continued through Friday. Testing took place in homerooms and spanned the first two or three periods. In order that students would not miss the same classes for four consecutive days, schedules were rotated.

The graduating class dinner dance will take place June 1. The dinner dance committee, which consists of about 30 eighth grade boys and girls, has decided upon a theme for the formal dance. It will be kept as a surprise to be disclosed only on that night. A disc jockey will provide music.

The graduation edition of the school newspapers, "East, Etc." is well under way. Ideas are being collected for the Class Will, which will not be published in the yearbook as it usually is due to lack of space.

The girls' softball team defeated Tewksbury Friday with a score of 15-14. Jana Caldwell, Kathy Kinsella, Julie Barry, Cindy Clinton and Donna Wallace played excellent defense and Amy Starensier and Linda Hager, who both had homeruns played equally great offense. Other outstanding offensive players were May Beth Plaehn, Beth Lancaster, and Rachel Petrella.

The boys' track team defeated Central Catholic by a score of 64-40. Gary Milne won the 100 yard dash and the triple jump events. The discus event was won by Doug Goodman. Other outstanding performances were turned in by Mike Lucey, Dana Demers, and Joe Manning. The boys' next meet is away at Chelmsford on May 11.

Honored At U. Of Maine

Leonard Young and Jane Austin, two students from Andover at the University of Maine at Orono, were honored at the university's annual awards ceremony, April 24.

Young, a senior studying forestry and forest resources, received the $100 Dwight B. Demeritt Award and the Xi Sigma Pi $25 token of achievement.

Austin received the $100 Harold Waterman Award.

Harvard Tours

Tours of Harvard University are conducted at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. Monday through Friday, from 8 Garden St., just off Harvard Square. On Saturday, the tour leaves from Holyoke Center on the square at 11 a.m.

Drama Club To Present Musical

On this Friday and Saturday night, May 11 and 12, the West Elementary auditorium will be the staging spot for the riotously funny comedy with music and dance that bears the intriguing title "The Great All-American Musical Disaster."

The cast of over 50 actors, singers and dancers are in the final stages of dress rehearsal for what is reported to be the funniest show in town (and this includes all the local movies). Set in present day Hollywood the play-within-a-play idea is developed along the zaniest of lines. Junior Dover, Jr. (Eric Bernardin) is a fast talking, fast thinking producer who convinces every great star of the day that they (and they alone are to be the big star of the colossal disaster film he has in production.

When the stars find out what Junior has been up to the 4th of July seems mild.

Music in the show features the "Madrigals" who recently took "best in show" honors at the Philadelphia Choral Convention. The evening stacks up to be a highlight of Andover's entertainment season. Tickets are on sale at the door and the curtain goes up at 8 p.m.

The bird name, titmouse, derives from the Old Icelandic word, titr, meaning something small. Mouse is a corruption of the Old English word, mase, meaning small bird, according to Massachusetts Audubon.

Science Fair Winners

The West Elementary School Grade Six Science Fair was held recently, and six winners were chosen by the judges. They are shown here with their projects. The winners are: Renee Trudeau, Beavers; Leah Donahue, How to Save Money; Alex St. Laurent, Pyramid Power; George Murphy, Traffic Lights; Judy Fournier, The Parts of the Bird; and Michele Schwetz, Leaf Characteristics. The students are members of Mrs. Childs', Mrs. Macomber's, Mr. Rossini's, and Mr. Redmond's science classes.

Andover Girl Goes To The White House

Washington, D.C. — On the Monday after Easter Sunday, The White House staff sponsored its annual Easter Egg Roll. This was for children 8 years old and under. My sister, Ann Larsen, was present at the event. She had told me that inside the White House gates were farm animals, exhibits, and most important, the President's wife, Mrs. Rosslyn Carter.

She was the host at the event. The time for the event was limited, so, there were long lines of children and parents waiting to get in. Fortunately my sister and my mother went early and didn't wait long to get in. The event proved to be fun for everyone.

Shawsheen Swimming Program

Right after the April vacation, the Shawsheen School began a swimming program. The children and the teachers will go to a pool twice a week through June 15.

This program is to teach them to swim, and what to do if they fall overboard on a boat, or if they started to drown.

During the last few weeks in Shawsheen School, Mr. Huston's gym classes had to do floor exercises. Each student thought up a routine made up of at least five exercises such as the forward roll, backward roll, headstand, hand stand, cartwheel, tripod, elephant stand, diving forward roll, and standing forward roll. The better and smoother the routine, the better your grade would be.

The fourth, fifth, and sixth grades of Shawsheen School are doing a little to help pollution. First they are going to clean up the playground and the woods. Second they are making posters to put around the school. The whole idea is to make people stop polluting and pick any trash they see around.

To Present 'Guys And Dolls'

The Department of Theater of Phillips Academy will present the well-known musical comedy, "Guys and Dolls," on Friday, May 18, and Saturday, May 19, at 8 p.m. on the George Washington Hall main stage.

Lovers of musical comedy in the community are advised to make reservations early for this rollicking story of the gambling nightlife around the corner of Broadway and 49th Street, haunt of Nathan Detroit, proprietor of "The Oldest Established Permanent floating Crap Game in New York." Other memorable musical numbers are "If I Were a Bell," "Luck, Be a Lady," and "Sit Down, You're Rockin' the Boat." The show is directed by H.H. Owen, Jr., with musical direction by David Irwin and choreography by Leone Simkins.

The characters are straight from Damon Runyon, who wrote the original story: there's Nathan's "doll" — and fiancee of fourteen years — Adelaide, songstress at the Hot Box Club, who is pestering Nathan for marriage; there's the rough out-of-town gambler, Sky Masterson; there's the unforgettable Nicely-Nicely Johnson, Big Jule, and the immortal Nathan himself. The plot is pure Runyonesque: the betting is on between Nathan and Sky Masterson; the cops are after the crap game; Sky gets paired off, and out of town, with Sister Sarah Brown, chief missionary of the Save-A-Soul Mission, after promising her "one dozen genuine sinners," and the mission briefly becomes the Casino for the crap game.

For ticket reservations, call Phillips Academy.

The humpback whale sings only during the Northern Hemisphere winter, its breeding season. The structure of the songs (each has two to five sounds) is the same for all the humpbacks in all oceans. Whales returning to their wintering area sing the songs of the previous winter, but new phrases replace old ones as the winter progresses, Massachusetts Audubon tells us.

Jacobi Photos On Exhibit

'Lotte Jacobi: Photographs,' an exhibition based on the life and work of the celebrated German born artist, opened recently at the Addison Gallery of American Art, Phillips Academy, Andover.

For three quarters of a century, Mme. Jacobi has been a resource of photography. Living and working with celebrities in the visual arts, writers, and academicians of prewar Berlin, she was at the nucleus of the energy that she and her compatriots brought to America in the 1930's.

Her first public recognition in the United States came from the pure abstract images done in the '40's called Photogenics. By moving controlled light sources across photographic paper, she made sensual, rhythmic, and mysteriously ambiguous 'light drawings.' These undulating veiled swaths of light become visual metaphors for memory or other unworldly magical spaces just beyond the edges of imagination. These works, photographically parented but conceptually close to painting, indicate the relationship Lotte Jacobi maintained with painters and printmakers. In fact, from 1935 to 1955, she directed her own art gallery in New York City exhibiting works in all media largely by artist-friends from Europe.

Her life's work, however, is based on attributes developed out of her work in portraiture. The ability to perceive those essential characteristics which reveal the quintessence of the human subject later was directed toward all kinds of subject matter — landscapes, still lifes, pictures of animals, rocks, and trees, all have the quality of specificness that the portraits have.

The exhibition reviews the great variety of Mme. Jacobi's work, including some examples seldom before seen. Portaits include those of Alfred Steiglitz, Albert Einstein, Marc Chagall, Robert Frost, Lotte Lenya, Paul Robeson. Also represented are urban and rural landscape images bordering on the abstract and utilizing pure pictorial considerations upon which the photogenics (also included) depend.

The Addison Gallery is open free to the public. Gallery hours: Tuesday-Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Sundays 2:30 to 5 p.m.

Meeting To Feature Sports Panel

The Friends of Andover Memorial Hall Library in conjunction with their annual meeting will sponsor the Library P.O.P.S. — a Panel on Popular Sports on Wednesday, May 16 at 7:30 p.m. in the library auditorium. Experts froma variety of fields will discuss and debate the merits of their specialties. Henry Wilmer will speak on running and jogging, Sue Luby will present information on yoga, Patti Anderson will describe aerobic dancing, and Doug Ankerson will discuss racquet ball.

Emphasis will be placed on the time required, benefits derived, and individual aptitude necessary for each of these sports. A majority of time has been set aside for questions from the audience, and the program is open to anyone with an interest in sports and exercise. Terry McManus is chairwoman and moderator for this event.

The meeting marks the conclusion of another successful year for Friends of Andover's Library. As in past years, their efforts have made possible the purchase of items and programs which do not fall within the library's budget. This year the Friends were responsible for the purchase of a dry mount laminator, a listening center for the children's room, film rentals, a winter party, and financial assistance in restoring a historic George Washington painting for the library.

The Friends are currently seeking book donations for their annual sale to be held on June 22. Hardcover books are being limited this year to hobby and do-it-yourself books, which will be the sale's main feature, along with dictionaries, atlases, encyclopedias no older than 1970, works of classic fiction, current best sellers and children's books. National Geographics and paperback books of any kind are also most welcome. Co-chairwomen Rosalie Sullivan and Sue Milot have made arrangements to have book donations left at the library's main desk.

Aid Group Presents Check

A $40,000 donation to the Lawrence General Hospital was presented to the hospital's director yesterday by hard-working members of the Hospital's Aid Association.

At its 29th annual meeting and luncheon, the Aid Association's president, Mrs. Thomas Jay Thomas, turned over the check to the hospital in the name of the 525 members of the organization.

The donation represents year-long fund raising efforts by the group in the form of its Hospitality Shop efforts, an auto raffle, a Holiday Ball and Boutique, membership dues, and several other revenue-producing activities to benefit the hospital.

Alton Noyes accepted the check in behalf of the hospital and agreed to the request that these funds be used toward renovation in the Surgical Day Care Unit, operating room instruments, lobby refurbishing, and patient education projects. This current gift follows a three year pledge completed last September that produced $100,000 toward the new Emergency Department.

The nominating Committee presented the following slate of officers for 1979-80: Mrs. Thomas Jay Thomas, president; Mrs. Joseph Pellegrino, vice-president; Mrs. George Stern, recording secretary; Mrs. Robert Goldstein, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Vincent P. Morton, treasurer; Mrs. George D. LeMaitre, assistant treasurer; Mrs. Vincent Savukinas and Mrs. Robert Lampe, executive committee at large.

New board members introduced at the Spring luncheon were: Mrs. Thomas Burkhard; Mrs. Richard Grieco; Mrs. Henry Hyder; Mrs. Michael Kettenback; Mrs. Richard Large; Mrs. J.R.D. McClintock; and Mrs. Andre Paradis.

Two members retiring from the board after six years of service were honored: Mrs. Robert Haslam and Mrs. Richard P. McCoy.

Elephant To Star At Clown Town

Clown Town has become an Andover tradition on the third Saturday in May. And this year is no exception. Rain or shine, the Andona Society, dressed in clown outfits, looks forward to welcoming everybody on Saturday, May 19 at the Andover Playstead behind the East Junior High School from 9:30 to 4:30 p.m. for their annual carnival event.

"Ruth" the elephant is this year's star, closely followed in popularity by amusement rides, a variety of games, pony and pony cart rides, white elephant tables, baked goods, balloons, clown make-up, puppets and clown hats, cotton candy, hamburgers, ice cream, pop corn and tonic.

The chairmen for this year's event are: Dorothy Sweetser, Pat Hildebrandt, Cindie Stella and Pat Scarborough, assisted by Irma Anderson, Barbara Egan, Marilyn Hoyt, Angela Tormey, Judy Smith and Maureen Leahy, Gail Harris, Rachel Thompson, Gair Der Ananian, Susan Daily, Doris Nash, Sharen Luti, Nancy Buscema, Carol Kaplan, Betty-Jo Cappola, Annette Cohen, Ann Hamilton, Nancy McBride, Bev Faust, Elke Kappeler, Marie Moson, Mitzi Norton, Margaret Cronin, Janice Cratty, Mona Calthorpe and Jean Prugh.

Awarded B.A.

Mark Wayne Hamilton, 2 Bannister Road, Andover, received the Bachelor of Arts degree from Fort Lewis College in Durango, Colorado during commencement exercises Saturday, April 21.

Clown Town Feature

"Ruth" the elephant will be the feature attraction at this year's presentation of Clown Town by the Andonna Society. The annual event is scheduled for the Playstead on Saturday, May 19, from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The appearance of the elephant is Andonna's way of expressing thanks to the community for its continued support of its many fund raising activities.

20 THE TOWNSMAN, MAY 10, 1979

The U.S. uses more paper than all other countries combined, over 400 pounds per person annually, according to Massachusetts Audubon.

Terry Beauregard spent Saturday morning replenishing the supply of registration forms around downtown Andover in preparation for the four-day series of workshops and related events coming up on May 17 through 20, at the Greater Lawrence Voke Tech School. The Celebration of Women is sponsored by the Greater Lawrence chapter of the National Organization for Women. More information can be had by calling Katherine Yezerski in Andover.

Announcing Workshop

Building Training For Women

CETA and the Massachusetts Building and Construction Trades Council AFL-CIO are co-sponsoring a project to help women enter the construction trades.

The program is a CETA-funded, 18-week pre-apprentice program, designed to place women in registered construction apprentice programs. The Merrimack Valley site for the training is in Lowell, where women will learn carpentry, painting or bricklaying.

The program will include two cycles. The first training will start on May 14 and the second, Oct. 14.

Any woman who is "CETA eligible" may apply for the program, but women between the ages of 24 and 35 have been the most successful to date. AFCD mothers, female heads of households, and minorities are urged to apply. The only requirement is that the women must be CETA-eligible as determined by the local CETA offices. In each session, 30 women will be trained.

Fire Alarm

Unfortunately, nobody has come up with a Fire Insurance that will prevent fires. Properly maintained and engineered buildings can help prevent them though. When we handle your Fire Insurance we tell you more than just the price. Often we can point out relatively minor improvements that can reduce your premium, and your likelihood of a fire.

But whatever Fire Insurance you buy from us, you'll know it's the best available for the price. We'll stake our reputation on that.

Farms Are Lost

In the last 10 years, 31 million acres of U.S. farm land have been converted to highways, shopping centers, and developments. Massachusetts Audubon points out that the land lost to farming is about three-quarters as much as New England's total area of 40,445,440 acres. Some states save farm land by buying develpment rights from farmers, which allows farmers to work the land but not to sell it for development.

Moderator James D. Doherty at the lectern at town meeting in Phillips Academy Cage. As moderator he rules supreme over the annual town meeting.

The Voice Of Authority

School

But Gerald Silverman, Andover resident and former administrator here, felt the 5.4 percent would already represent "irreparable damage."

"It would not be maintaining the school system," he said, adding that the town would actually be buying less than it did a year ago, due to double digit inflation.

He said the town had historically been "penny wise and pound foolish" in its building programs, and that it was now time to spend more on the future of the kids.

Silverman said his three children have had a total of 35 years in the Andover system, and that if he added up his tax bill, "I get a pretty darn good deal." He said families who have two or three children in the schools would have to pay $5000 in real estate taxes to be paying their fair share of school costs.

He urged the meeting defeat the 5.4 percent "and hope the school committee will come back with 8.2."

Finance Committee Chairman Donn Byrne said his group recommended the "basic four percent increase" and claimed the school department has a "budgetary system that's not very precise." He said they have found that invoices aren't always presented, and that there is a great deal of over-expenditure in some accounts, with transfers of funds from one account to another. He said only 50 percent of the maintenance funds have been used for this year while seven of 16 other categories have been overexpended.

"We realize that if we adopt four percent budget, they will be forced to reevaluate the school system and make adjustments, "But, he said, "we feel it can be done."

FinCom's Rusty Dunbar said if the picture was not as bleak as Finn had painted it via the per pupil costs. In teaching salaries, she said, Andover, is in the 11th percentile and in the total instructional account, in the 16th percentile.

She said an Andover family whose home is assessed for $60,000, should be paying about $2227 this year in taxes. A four percent increase would represent an increase of $80, or a total of $2307 in taxes for next year, she said, whereas a 5.4 percent increase would be $123 ($2350 total) and an 8.2 percent increase, $202, ($2429 total).

"Once the increases are plugged in they'll stay," she said, and asked that the meeting "not lose site of the older taxpayer."

"We feel a compromise can be reached at four percent," she said.

Virginia Cole, formerly of the school committee, finance committee and board of selectmen, said the town can still provide an excellent education under a tax cap.

While a four percent budget would have required only a simple majority of voters present, anything above the recommended cap required a two-thirds vote.

The motion for a 5.4 percent increase was defeated by 244 yes's to 501 no's, and it became apparent that the schools were not going to get much more.

Mrs. Viehmann's motion for an 8.2 increase also went down to defeat, with 407 voting yes and 331 voting no, following an appeal for the tax cap by former selectman chairman Milton Greenberg and an attempt by Donal Coleman of High Street for a "secret Australian ballot."

Greenberg, who serves on the board of a group that represents 80 top, high technology firms in the Bay State, said they feel the tax cap is necessary to help draw high technology employees into the state. If taxes aren't curbed, he said, some of the firms might move out.

Coleman's motion, which required a vote of at least one-fourth, drew little support.

The school committee came down one step further to seven percent, and was still denied by a yes vote of 424 to a no vote of 316.

A motion for six percent was defeated by a yes vote of 477 to a no vote of 243, but Douglas Mitchell of High Plain Road challenged the accuracy of the count, which was nearing the necessary two-thirds majority. The recount turned up 498 yes's versus 250 no's — one vote short of the override.

Mrs. Viehmann was told they were out of order when the school committee requested she move the 5.4 budget again, and she came back with a motion for a 5.3 percent budget.

It carried by a vote of 558 yes's and 173 no's, and the session was adjourned until last night at 7:30.

National Honor Society Induction Held

The annual induction ceremony of the Andover High School Chapter of the National Honor Society was held this past week in the auditorium of the West Junior High School.

The president of the society, Linda Syiek, was mistress of ceremonies and after welcoming the inductees, their parents, invited guests, and faculty members led the audience in the Pledge of Allegiance. Her introductory remarks concerned the background of the National Honor Society.

Participating in the traditional candlelight ceremony were Robert Lenk, Pat Gingras, Patricia Franco, John Anderson, and Dorothy Romano.

The highlight of the evening was an inspiring address by Dr. George Traicoff, the president of the North Shore Community College in Beverly.

After the inductees received their pins and certificates they were led in the National Honor Society pledge by Linda Syiek.

Biggest Trees

The "bigness" of a tree is the sum of its three dimensions: height, circumference four and a half feet above the ground, and one-quarter of the crown spread.

According to the American Forestry Association, the "biggest" of their species still standing are: Giant Sequoia, 272 feed, Squoia National Park, Calif; Douglas Fir, 221 ft., Olympic National Park, Washington; Ponderosa Pine, 162 ft., Lapine, Ore; American Elm, 160 ft.

At one time in Scotland fishermen would help ensure a catch by throwing one of their number from the boat and then hauling him out of the water as if he were a fish.

Photos Of Immigrants At Museum

"Yearning to Breathe Free: Immigrants in Search of the American Dream," a photographic exhibit of immigrant life on Ellis Island in the early decades of the 20th century, opens May 6 at The Museum of Our National Heritage in Lexington.

This display of 23 mounted photographs was prepared from original prints in the collections of the Statue of Liberty, and contains pictures taken by Augustus F. Sherman, Ellis Island's official photographer until his death in 1925.

Known only to the public through publication in early issues of "National Geographic Magazine," Sherman's photographs frequently appeared in the Immigration Service's annual reports of the early 1900's. They were "rediscovered" in 1966 when the photographers heirs donated a collection of 125 original prints to the National Park Service.

The exhibit depicts the progress of immigrants from their arrival in New York Harbor to their departure from the famed immigration depot. The opening scene is a view of an immigrant ship teeming with expectant passengers. In another photograph, immigrants laden with suitcases and bundles are pictured nervously waiting on the staircase to the Main Hall where they will be examined and questioned. In the Main Hall, a doctor checks the underside of a women's eyelid for trachoma, a contagious and then incurable disease. Discovery of trachoma brought immediate rejection. The closing illustration shows a family of four surrounded by their few possessions, peering into the hazy distance at their new homeland across the water.

costs of general government administration and services, passed with little opposition, and the whole block was passed by a standing vote, 875 to 7. This was well within the two thirds vote needed to override the proposed tax cap.

The next block of line items, 23 to 30, also passed without a hitch, but when the standing vote to establish the two thirds majority was called for, several citizens on the floor objected.

Grover Nix called it a "bad practice" to vote to override before the bill had been signed into law by the governor. "What is the purpose of the legislature passing a law if a sophisticated town like Andover decides piecemeal to override it in advance?" he asked.

Town Manager Jared S.A. Clark said that the town was adopting the procedure to avoid having a second and costly town meeting in the summer, when many of the voters might be away on vacation.

Steven Flashenburg, in favor of voting to override, said, "I think it is important to express the needs of the town in spite of what the governor says."

Moderator James D. Doherty took a consensus vote to determine the attitude of the meeting toward the procedure. According to his ruling, the meeting was in favor of taking a standing vote on each block of budget line items.

The voting continued with all blocks of line items receiving much more than the two thirds majority needed to override the proposed tax cap.

Economy seemed an important factor in the voting, with town meeting paring an additional $11,650 from the selectmen's recommended budget, which represented a 3.5 percent increase over last year's.

The cuts came in four areas. Selectmen had their expense budget trimmed back from $6570 to $3070 at the suggestion of the finance committee. The funds are earmarked for special studies the selectmen might require during the year.

The library lost $500 budgeted for overtime pay and $1200 for an extra library page, despite library protestations that an estimated 15,000 more books circulated in the system this year than last.

The special program account of the department of community services was cut by $5050. Joan Pearson, director of the department, said the money would have been used to get more performances in the culturalseries, but all of the money would have been returned to the account through increased ticket fees.

The finance committee called this expansion of existing programs and recommended against it.

The final cut came in the department of public works budget, eliminating $2400 which DPW Director Robert McQuade had asked for to keep the Chandler Road landfill site open on Wednesday afternoons, Saturdays and holidays. With the budget as passed, the site will be closed on Wednesday afternoons, holidays and 11 more Saturdays this year.

In seven cases, town meeting voted against cuts recommended by the finance committee.

They voted in favor of 36 more trees being planted at a cost of $2000, and for 35 to 40 new street lights, repairs and maintenance at a cost of $5000.

The fire department had funds for a new ambulance approved against the advice of the finance committee. Selectman James Abramson spoke in favor of the new vehicle, claiming that the repairs and upkeep of the old one would cost more money in the long run than buying a new one for $35,000. The old ambulance will be kept in reserve.

The animal control department received funds to purchase a new truck and to hire a second full-time dog officer. Sidney P. White, challenging the finance committee recommendation against these additions, said that if the town wanted to have leash laws, "they should give them the tools to enforce it."

Highway maintenance received a shot in the arm when $40,000 for maintenance was left in against FinCom recommendation. DPW director McQuade said the proposed cut would hamper snow removal, sidewalk and curb construction and repair and guardrail maintenance, and would ignore increases in the cost of fuel, asphalt, salt and other materials used by the highway department.

The department of community development and planning will pay about 15 cents per mile to employees using their own cars on the job. The FinCom recommended paying 13 cents, but the meeting voted against such a sum after hearing from the floor that the state pays 15 cents per mile and the federal government pays 17.

The budget for Andover's share of the Greater Lawrence Outreach was left intact at $13,000. Services to those who could otherwise not afford them would be reduced, a spokesman for the agency said, if the finance committee's reduction of $1,000 were voted.

The amount requested for solid waste removal went up $16,796 from the $295,280 asked for in the FinCom report. Town Manager Clark blamed the increase on a 37 per cent hike in collection and disposal costs discovered Monday when bids on the solid waste removal contract bids were opened. Recycling, Clark said, will stay at its current level.

A reduction in the amount requested by the police department for expenses resulted from purchasing new cruisers from Newton. The purchase allowed for a $2600 cut.

Lights, Signs Excessive

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

The new traffic controls on Main St. make a vivid reminder it is, indeed, State Highway 28. What state other than Taxachusetts would spend so much time and money on installing such excessive signs and lights? Only Massachusetts would dictate traffic patterns which add to confusion and potential accidents — two lanes at red lights converging to one lane after the intersection southbound on Main Street at Stevens Street or northbound at Wheeler Street. Or, take the tire popping curb one must negotiate trying to go down School Street.

Perhaps the state wants to test one's reading ability as one drives through academia with all the "Keep Right" signs through the campus. Hopefully, the academy students will learn to read the "Don't Walk" and " Walk" lights and will be taught the difference between red lights and green lights. The way the students dash across Main and Salem Streets oblivious to traffic they'll be lucky to live to see graduation.

The most unfortunate part of all this traffic "improvement" is that the most treacherous situation of all has not been dealt with — Main Street between McDonald's and Shawsheen Plaza.

Grateful

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

Our A.M.C. hikes have been so successful and everyone has enjoyed them so much. So I want to express my deep gratitude and thanks, in this open letter, first to the Townsman, and the Lawrence Tribune that have backed our community project by publishing our hikes each month. The cooperation of A.V.I.S. and the Andover Conservation Commission, the trustees of the Reservation in providing the hands and their help too. Our wonderful leaders, that plan them so well; our committee member who writes the publicity, (always on time); the artist who does our posters; our treasurer who keeps us in line; our coordinator of our hikes that sends the memo to Boston for the bulletin. Most of all, for the fun weve had in all being together, and last but not least for the delightful cookies and goodies our members make for our committee meetings.

To Perform 'Spoon River'

The Living Literature Group of Boston will perform 'Spoon River' at the Unitarian-Universalist Church on Mother's Day, Sunday, May 13, at 10:30 a.m. The public is invited.

This dramatization of the Spoon River Anthology, an American classic by Edgar Lee Masters, was developed and directed by Josephine Lane, a prominent Boston actress. The cast includes Susan Lenoe of Andover, Bob Burke of Gloucester, Pat Berg, Amanda Frymann, Peter Siragusa, Nina Solomita, Wendy Almeida, and Linda Bisesti, all of Boston.

The church is located at 644 Lowell St., Andover.

We now realize that the air and water we used for free in past decades actually had a cost, Douglas Costle, EPA administrator, says. Now, we are trying to pay in a few short years for damages incurred during the past centuries, Massachusetts Audubon notes.

The giraffe has a maximum life span of 30 years — approximately the same as the Neanderthal man during the early Stone Age.

Math Team Captures First Place

The season for Andover West Junior High "Mathletes" closed on a high note as they took first place at the last meet of the Intermediate Math League of Eastern Massachusetts.

Andover West started fast but still spotted Wilmington one point after the first category. However, the team caught fire in geometry, scoring 28 out of a possible 30 points, and took a commanding lead.

The momentum was definitely on their side as they academically fought through the next four difficult categories and posted a seven-point lead over second place Wilmington in the eight-team contest.

The victory was very special as the defending champion, Carlisle, also fell action to the disciplined attack of the pencil-pusher of West.

A standout performer, Mike Rosen, took his second consecutive high-point award for ninth graders. Other members who have made significant point contributions this year are Chip Dye, Tamar Gendler, Maura Malone, Alan Mattedi, Anita Mattedi, Chip Wood, Paul Yannalfo, Robbie Yelle, Anita Zaltev, Bill Martin and Ed Lewandowski.

Their coach, Mr. Whyte, will be faced with a rebuilding program this fall as he will be losing seven regulars — three to graduation and four to private schools. Any student at West Jr. High is eligible. Mr. Whyte encourages and welcomes all interested students to try out.

Cleaning up the carsh (in northern Canada, January 1978) of the Soviet satellite, Kosmos-954, with 25 pounds of uranium on board, cost $13 million. Throughout a 90,000-square-kilometer area, 3,000 pieces were recovered. Canada has sent a bill to the U.S.S.R. for $6 million, Massachusetts Audubon notes.

At Rivier

Posing with three classmates, Judith Mower (second from right), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Mower of Andover, is a sophomore at Rivier College in Nashua, N. H. She is one of over 100 students enrolled as a Paralegal Studies major in a program which is the only one of its kind in the Northeast with American Bar Association accreditation.

Local Resident Involved In University Study

Andover resident and University of Lowell Professor Carol C. McDonough is one of a three member faculty team finalizing a major study this spring on the economic impact of the campus.

Dr. McDonough, of 5 Comanche Place, is presently chairman of the economics faculty at the University of Lowell. Working with faculty members Gerald F. Downey and George C. Dery, she has been involved in the University of Lowell financial impact study since 1975. Preliminary indications from the four year effort were discussed by Dr. McDonough this month at special meetings of the Northern Middlesex Chamber of Commerce and Industry in Lowell, and the Greater Lawrence Chamber of Commerce.

The work of these three campus economists, done at the request of University President John B. Duff and representatives of the Lowell business community, established the University as one of the largest industries in the Greater Lowell area. Direct and indirect expenditures by the University, personnel, and students was set at $30,335,473. for the Merrimack Valley.

The worth of the University's seven colleges, graduate school, and related operations such as the campus bookstore, food services, continuing education, and the research foundation, was projected as just over $47 Million in the Greater Lowell area and $60,064,236. for the Merrimack Valley which includes Greater Lawrence, Greater Haverhill, and Greater Newburyport.

In analyzing early results of the study, President Duff emphasized the regional and statewide importance of the University beyond its economic impact. "High technology is served well by a University with Lowell's special expertise, and concentration on professional degree programs. Four months ago the school's plastics engineering program became the first of its kind accredited in the United States."

In 1976 Dr. McDonough was involved with the same team of campus economists, writing a study which predicted that a major statewide financial loss would follow the closing of Fort Devens.

Annual Audubon Camp-Out

The third annual Spring Camp-out will be held on the weekend of May 18-20 at Massachusetts Audubon's Arcadia Wildlife Sanctuary in Easthampton, MA. Family campers are invited to bring their camping equipment and take part in a full weekend of guided nature walks, canoe tours of the oxbow of the Connecticut River, night wildlife walks and campfire activities. Special programs for children 4 to 12 are held on Saturday to allow their parents to join the adult programs.

The Sanctuary consists of 475 acres of varied habitat on the Connecticut River oxbow. Located along one of the major migration flyways, the Sanctuary is at its peak of bird life in mid-May. It is also the time for the best observations of spring wildflowers, flowering trees and mammals. This weekend event is the only time that camping is permitted on the Sanctuary.

In order to allow time for the nature activities, three catered meals are available to campers, or campers may bring their own food to cook. The facilities at Arcadia are basic, not fancy. All kinds of campers, from backpackers to recreational vehicles are welcome.

Pre-registration is required. For information on the fees, schedule, facilities and the nature activities program write Spring Camp-Out, Arcadia, Easthampton, MA. 01027.

A vending machine, the "Golden Goat," used in Arizona shopping centers, pays out 13 cents a pound for aluminum cans. Each hour, 7,000 cans may be sorted and crushed. During 1979, 400 of these machines will be distributed throughout the country, Massachusetts Audubon reports.

Tours Of Park Planned

Supt. Lewis S. Albert has announced that Lowell National Historial Park is developing plans for a guided tour which will be a major tourist attraction in Lowell this summer.

The Lowell Mill and Canal Tour will provide an opportunity to see first-hand Lowell's well-preserved canal system and related 19th century structures. According to Albert, the tour may accomodate as many as 20,000 people over 65 days of operation during June, July, and August.

As presently planned, the three-hour tour will be gi3n nine times a day, Wednesday through Sunday, June 2 through Sept. 2. One of the highlights will be a boat trip up the Merrimack River from the Northern Canal Gatehouse to the Pawtucket Canal, and down the canal as far as the Francis Gate complex. Other points of interest to visitors will be the Merrimack Gatehouse and the surrounding downtown Park area, the Lowell Musuem and turbines in the adjacent Wannalancit Mill, and the impressive 19th century hydrotechnology of the Northern Canal Gatehouse.

One of the primary purposes of the tour, Albert explained, will be to provide visitors an opportunity to see Lowell's historic resources without need of a car. Boston-based visitors and residents are urged to rely on bus transit from Boston's North Station to the Lowell Thorndike Street Terminal, where they will be met by a free Park shuttle bus and brought to the tour starting point at the Merrimack Gatehouse. Those arriving in Lowell by car will be asked to park at the Dutton Street parking lot, and will be directed by foot the short distance to the Merrimack Gatehouse. From there, the tours will depart, using a combination of bus, boat, and foot travel at various times throughout the three-hour tour.

Reservations for the Lowell Mill and Canal Tour are strongly recommended. For further information, contact the Lowell National Historical Park at 171 Merrimack St., P. O. Box 1098, Lowell.

School Building Project Back To Drawing Board

The Andover Townsman

The Second Front Page

MAY 10, 1979

By Robert E. Finneran
Editor

The East Junior High renovation or rebuilding project is back to the drawing board this week, as the building and school committees begin a review of alternatives.

Following receipt of additional information from the architects for the project late last week, the two committees agreed to review the alternatives, resulting in the withdrawal of the advisory article facing town meeting this week.

Originally the voters were to be asked to provide guidance to the school building committee on whether to build a new East and tear down the old, renovate old East, or relocate a new building on the South school site.

Meetings during the week resulted in the chairmen of the school committee and school building committee issuing a statement on Friday indicating that due to additional alternatives which could result in a more economical way to select a school building project, town meeting would not be presented with the building project this week.

Alternatives to be studied include accomodation of 750 pupils at a new or renovated East Junior High, 600 at West Junior High and a 1,250 senior high school; a reversal of the East-West population figures; a three-year junior high at West and a three-year high school; a two-year junior high at West and a four-year high school.

Thrust of the consideration is development of a campus type school plant at the Shawsheen road site. There are indications that such a development would be more economical and still meet the town's needs.

Ken Gropper, chairman of the building committee, said his group would be working with the school committee in examining the alernatives and that communication between the two groups would be "more regular and intimate."

Both Gropper and School Board Chairman Elaine Viehmann said that public input had always been welcome and would be actively sought as the alternative plans are studied.

The action essentially puts any decision on a building program off until early 1980.

While it is still possible to come up with some kind of plans for consideration at the October town meeting, it is doubtful that the matter would be placed before the voters at that time.

It would appear that a special town meeting will be required, possibly in January of 1980.

Both Gropper and Mrs. Viehmann said the work would not slow down, but, rather accelerate, as both the building and school committees made plans to work through the summer.

Town Manager Jared S.A. Clark said that the development of an educational park on Shawsheen road could potentially save the town $2 million.

The manager indicated that the planning process would now include a study of population projections and an attempt to get a handle on what industrial development may do to the town. He said a full assessment was needed to determine if the recent influx of new industry would result in increased population as well as increased town services.

Clark said the committee would be working with the architects and their estimates in a general way to study the cost of alternatives.

This, he said, would result in coming up with the best manner in which to implement the educational specifications with the economical way to proceed toward construction.

Clark also said the town must be prepared to examine and accept alternatives to the present educational philosophy which follows a six-year elementary education, three years of junior high and three years of senior high.

While no one is advocating change, the manager said, alternatives must be examined and such systems as 6-2-4, 4-4-4 and 5-3-4.

"Of necessity," the manager emphasiz-

Choral Groups Win Awards

The Andover High School choir won top honors in two categories at the Liberty Bell Festival of Music in Philadelphia, Pa., Sunday.

The Madrigals were awarded a rating of outstanding by the panel of judges, and received a silver prize. The A Cappella choir received a rating of excellent and a bronze prize. These were the highest ratings given in their categories.

Five other schools participated in the festival.

The choir left Andover Friday on Trombly buses which they rented with funds raised during the year. The group of 66 students and seven chaperones stopped in New York for a sight-seeing tour of Lincoln Center and then traveled on to Philadelphia. Accomodations were arranged by Beaver College which organized the festival.

An awards banquet was held Sunday night.

Monday the group returned to Andover, arriving at about 7 p.m. at Phillips Academy Cage where they sang for the opening night of town meeting.

In order to arrive at town meeting ready to perform, the choir changed into their concert clothes in the rest rooms of a Howard Johnsons's in Stockbridge.

Applauding The Decision

The decision to withdraw the advisory item dealing with the junior high project, agreed upon by school and town officials, is to be applauded.

It is not so much that additional alternatives are now to be examined, but the more important factor is there is now time for reaching agreement and consensus on what is to be done to provide an adequate school plant for Andover's future.

As indicated a week ago in our editorial comment, there was a fear that the project was in jeopardy, which would have been a bad omen for the town.

It still faces substantial hurdles, but the path to providing Andover's educational building needs, seems to be on a course which could well lead to agreement several months from now.

The most commendable part of the agreement to withdraw the item for consideration at this week's annual town meeting was the recognizing of the need for communication between the school committee and school building committee, as well as other town boards where applicable.

There is little doubt that it will be a long summer for both the building committee and school board. They are now charged with coming up with a proposal to be presented to Andover voters either later this year or at a special town meeting early next year.

We would anticipate that many of the views held by townspeople with regard to the project as it existed prior to last week's decision may remain.

But with time and study now on the agenda, rather than decision and guidance, there is the opportunity to examine what will be best for the town.

Considered within the alternatives will be the possibility of a realignment of the school system, from its present 6-3-3 grade system, to some other format.

That, too, will take some understanding and acceptance if it is ultimately decided upon.

There will be ample opportunity for public input as the planning and study continues in the months ahead.

Most important, however, will be the need for agreement to compromise the varying viewpoints.

It is the duty now of the building and school committees to take the educational specifications, the demographic considerations and put it all together in a package which will best fit Andover's educational needs in an economical manner.

Without some compromise along the way, the project will remain as risky of passage as it was a week ago.

Based on the decision to continue to study alternatives and maintain open lines of communication between the public and those concerned with the project, we view the total school project as now heading toward a proper conclusion — culminating in construction sometime next year.

Down The Years With The Townsman

Miss Annie Robinson, a former teacher in drawing in Andover, was married at the home of her parents in Marion, Mass., Tuesday afternoon to Mr. Delano Luce.

The office of Mr. Frank E. Gleason, the well known coal dealer, has undergone considerable alterations and improvements and is now very attractive and more convenient. The walls have been tinted a beautiful color and a new desk added.

At the regular meeting of the Andover Mothers Club held last Friday, a large attendance of members and visitors had the pleasure of listening to Miss Mary Laing of Boston, whose subject was "Why Children Should Ready Fairy Tales." A charming personality, and manner, joined to an interesting treatment of her subject, made Miss Laing a most pleasing speaker.

Considerable excitement was caused in the square on Monday afternoon by the breaking of a trolley wire on the Andover-Lawrence line in front of P. J. Daly's store. A car was passing beneath at the time and the broken wire twisted around it setting the roof afire. The wire was removed by the conductor assisted by Newton Jaquith and the cars resumed running after a delay of over an hour.

Complete approval of the teaching of conversational French in the grade schools with recommendation for its continuance as a full-time subject in the grades was expressed Monday night by the principals of the grade schools and the teachers who are handling the French program.

The showers last Saturday and Sunday failed to dampen the enthusiasm of the town's younger anglers, over 300 of whom registered for the annual trout derby held in Hussey's Pond under the sponsorship of the Andover Sportsman's Club, Inc.

America is "uptight about student revolt," columnist Art Buchwald told an appreciative Phillips Academy audience Monday, and satire and humor are needed "to relax the uptight society."

Patrolman William Tammany and Walter Baker were singularly honored for their contributions to the community and former Town Manager Richard J. Bowen was presented with an award during the fifth annual Founder's Day ceremonies Tuesday at the Bancroft School.

Bids on construction of an addition to the North Atlantic Internal Revenue Service Center on Lowell St. are currently under consideration by the general services administration.

Reps Want All Nixon Tapes Opened To Narrow GSA's Lost-Records Gap

WASHINGTON – It has been five years since Richard Nixon was condemned by his own words. They were recorded on secret White House tapes, which provided evidence of the greatest political scandal in White House history – Watergate.

But the tapes may also contain evidence of other scandals. Most of Nixon's White House conversations have never been made public. We have joined other reporters in asking the courts to open up all the tape recordings. But the former president is fighting to keep them secret.

Now a congressional subcommittee wants to listen to Nixon's conversations with Arthur Sampson and Robert Kunzig. They headed the scandal-scarred General Services Administration while Nixon was president.

The agency is mired in corruption. Ten juries are now sifting through the sordid evidence. They have already handed down more than 40 indictments and obtained 27 guilty pleas.

While the Justice Department has been cracking down on lesser officials, the top brass have miraculously gone unscathed. One reason for this is that the records are missing. Government sources told us that some key files have been removed or destroyed.

The congressional subcommittee is quietly looking for the missing evidence. Chairman John Burton, D-Calif., hopes to find some clues by listening to Nixon's conversations with his General Services Administration subordinates.

The controversial tapes are now tied up in the courts. The subcommittee, therefore, is expected to ask the District Court for permission to listen to all tapes dealing with the GSA.

Already, Richard Nixon's incriminating conversations have brought down his own presidency. Now, his voice, speaking from the past, may ruin other men involved in today's General Services Administration scandal.

Corporate Greed: We previously predicted that the oil companies' profits for the first quarter of 1979 would be exorbitant. The corporate reports have now been released, and they confirm what insiders told us.

Exxon, for example, reported profits of more than 37 percent. Standard Oil of Indiana showed an increase of nearly 28 percent. These shocking profits came at a time when President Carter was calling upon everyone else to hold down their salary and price increases to 7 percent.

Meanwhile, the president is deregulating price controls on oil, which will increase profits even more. He has called for a windfall-profits tax to curb these profits. But his proposal would take away only half of the oil companies' new profits and permit them to pocket the other half.

The oil firms claim they need the extra bucks to pay for drilling new wells. They are not talking much about what they're really doing with their excess money.

Exxon, for example, has more than $5 billion in cold cash. That is more than many nations hold in their treasuries. Mobil had enough cash lying around to buy MARCOR, the parent company of the Montgomery Ward Department store chain. Mobil also submitted a multimillion dollar bid for a land development company and is negotiating for a paper manufacturing company called Bodcaw.

Atlantic Richfield paid a cool $2 billion for Anaconda Copper. Tenneco bought the Philadelphia Life Insurance Company for $644 million. Gulf Oil purchased a chemical conglomerate called Kewanee Brands at a price of $389 million. Sun Oil is trying to take over another chemical company called Becton-Dickinson for $600 million.

Yet the oil lobbyists are fighting tooth-and-nail against an excess-profits tax.

Brassy Brass: All employees of the federal government are required by law to fly on airlines owned by U.S. companies. The idea is to promote American-owned businesses.

But the law hasn't set too well with the Joint Chiefs of Staff. The brass hats don't like to be forced to transfer planes in New York City when they return to the states from Europe, which is the practice of U.S. airlines. The military chiefs would rather fly directly to Washington on a foreign airline.

They asked the General Accounting Office to grant them an exception to the law because of the undue hardship they experienced by transferring planes. The GAO refused to grant the waiver on the grounds that the Joint Chiefs suffered no more inconvenience than most international travelers.

Watch on Waste: Should the president become ill, he can count on luxurious facilities at military hospitals around Washington. At the Bethesda, Md., naval hospital in the suburbs of Washington, for example, there is a richly appointed presidential suite.

But the Army, not to be outdone, decided to build its own presidential rooms at the Walter Reed Army Medical Center in Northwest Washington. Begun in 1967, the suite cost $400,000 to build and contains a private elevator, a security room, a kitchen, dining room and sitting room.

Once it was finished, the Pentagon decided that a sick chief executive should continue to use the old facilities at Bethesda. So the Walter Reed presidential suite – 2,800 square feet of expensive space – stands empty.

Written for researchers — executives, customers, students or reporters —the book includes private and governmental sources of information about public and private companies, both foreign and domestic.

Recent additions to the Large Print book collection include the popular "Roots" by Alex Haley and the first three volumes of Winston Graham's "Poldark Series," based on the PBS television programs.

Program Chairmen Please Note!

The Memorial Hall Library staff will again offer local organizations a choice of programs for next fall and winter. Book reviews, children's books, gift books, women in literature, etc. are some of the suggested topics which may be tailored to the tastes of the audience. Further information may be obtained from Dorothy Sherrerd, program coordinator at 475-6960.

Warriors Display Depth In Boosters Meet

In one of its most outstanding displays of team depth ever, the Andover High Track team scored on overwhelming victory in the 20th annual Andover Booster's Invitational Track Meet held at Eugene V. Lovely Field on May 6.

In the first track meet of its kind in this area the Booster's Meet was a combined Boys and Girls scoring meet. Both the Golden Warrior Boys and Girls outdistanced their opponents in their respective divisions. The victory marked the 19th time in 20 years that Andover has won this meet:

Team Scoring

Andover	306
Methuen	219
Reading	189
Danvers	96
North Andover	39
Winthrop	28
Newburyport	27
Marblehead	24
Swamscott	21

Once again the Andover team was led by the outstanding performance of Paul Farnham. In the Booster's Meet, Paul won the triple jump setting a new meet and Andover High School record of 46' 4½''. This broke the old school record set by Leon Sharpe in winning the New England championship in 1970. Paul also ran on the 440 relay team which set a new meet record of :44.1 in that event. Mel Berber, Bob Wilkins and Noel Pizarro also ran on that team. Pizarro was the 220 winner in the Booster's meet, as were Peggy Edwards in the Girls long jump and Rip Williams who won both the long jump and the 440. Bonnie Daley turned in an outstanding performance getting seconds in the Girl's javelin and 880 as did Bob Surrett with seconds in both the high hurdles and long jump. Surrett, coming off a foot injury, is beginning to round back into form. Finally, Melvin Berger continues to show impressively in the 100 pushing New England champion Kevin Tarr to the limit in the 100 yard dash.

In dual meet action during the week, the Andover girls lost to undefeated Billerica 73-44 and came back with a decisive win over Lawrence 110-8. The boys scored victories during the week over Billerica 116-29 and over Lawrence 95-50. Highlight of the dual meet action was a 12' pole vault by Chris Poulsen.

On Saturday May 12 the Andover Boys and Girls teams will meet their counterparts at Phillips Academy at the academy track starting at 1:30 p.m.

Synchronized Swim Exhibition

Synchronized swimming, a water activity which utilizes stunts and hybrid stroke styles in routines set to music, is a source of great enjoyment to both the participant and the spectator. Although in many parts of the country it is a highly competitive individual or team sport, synchronized swimming in this area is primarily an art form usually presented in the form of a water show.

On Saturday, May 5, the Northeast Region Synchronized Swimming Exhibition was held at the Andover-)North Andover YMCA. More than 85 swimmers representing YMCA's and high schools in Maine, Massachusetts, Connecticut and New York presented routines for evaluation by a panel of critics. Evaluation was based upon art, imagination, music, creativity, costumes and interest.

All routines presented by the Girls' and Women's Synch Swim Club of the Andover-North Andover YMCA received high ratings. Local participants in this exhibition were: "Ode to Spring" — Jodi Davison, Lisa Harris, Betsy Ehrman, Dana Smith, Laurie Galper, Ren Pfeiffer, Doreen DeNitto, Lucia Derba, Abby Robb, Jean Oelwang, Marcy Eaton, and Cathy Batson; "The Chase" — Lucia Derba and Kate Seeley; "Tranquillity" — Jodi Davison; "Rotations" — Vicki Robb, Barbara DeNitto, Maureen Leahy, Shirley McDowell, Nancy Price, Susan Schwarz, Jane Taylor, Susan Weidman.

On Friday, May 18, the Girls' and Women's Synch Club of the Andover-North Andover YMCA will present "Return to Never-Never Land," a water show which is used to please young and old alike. Shows are scheduled for 5:30 p.m. and 7:45 p.m. with admission by ticket only. Tickets may be purchased at the "Y" or from any member of the Synch Swim Club. Space is limited.

Golfing Then, Now

Back in 1744, when the initial golfing code was drawn up by the Honorable Company of Edinburgh Golfers in Scotland, putting greens were far from being impeccably groomed. The ball was teed on a little mound built from dirt scooped out of the hole.

Today most putting greens are beautiful and smooth. The U.S. Golf Association is constantly striving to improve fairways and putting greens. The USGA sponsors university research to develop better turf grasses and sends experts to member clubs to cover golf course maintenance, including soil testing, turf culture, seed, fertilizer, watering and control of pests, diseases and weeds.

Bantam B's Bow In Finals

Despite the outstanding play of goalie Chris Williams, who made countless spectacular saves, the Bantams went down to defeat against the league leading Everett team by a score of 6-2

The Bantam's jumped out to a one goal lead at the 9 minute mark on a turn-around backhander by Rob Calder after Tom Maginnis had worked hard in the corner to make the centering pass. Williams held this lead until the 7 minute mark of the second period when an Everett forward turned the corner on the derense and lifted a high shot into the top left corner. This goal inspired the Everett team and they pressed the Bantam defense with great intent. At the 5 minute point a three on two developed to the Bantams advantage. Chris O'Reilly passed to Bryan Curley who steamed down the right boards drawing the Everett defense. He then made an excellent pass to Frank DePiano, who drilled home the go-ahead goal. Three minutes later Andover was penalized for slashing and jsut as the penalty ran out, Everett scored the tying goal from a scramble in front of the net.

After two well played periods and several near misses for the Bantam's the tide turned. TheBantam's playing with two full lines and only two spare forwards, simply ran out of gas. The hard pressed Bantams were caught in the offensive zone several times leading to numerous two on ones and individual breakaways. Chris Williams couldn't stop all the shots on net, however, he continued to make terrific saves right to the end.

The Bantam B Team finished it's intitial season in the Danvers League in second place with a record of 15 wins, 9 losses and 1 tie.This is a record for which the Andover players can be justly proud.

The season produced some interesting statistics for the avid hockey fan. The Bantam B team scored 119 goals with 121 assists, while they allowed 109 goals, a difference of 10 goals over a 25 game season.

The three goalies, Chris Williams, Barry Moore and Brian Barry, had a goals against average of 4.36. Brian Barry had thelongest stretch of shutout hockey, a total of 60 consecutive minutes during a six game winning streak.

Offensively the line of Calder, Walsh and Maginnis led with a total of 68 points (31 goals, 37 assists). DePiano, Germano and Curley was a close second with 65 total points (42 goals, 23 assists). Hunt, O'Reilly and Depper followed with 60 points (34 goals, 26 assists) to provide a well balanced attack.

Eskimo boys at one time were forbidden to play cats cradle because in later life their fingers might become entangled in harpoon lines as a result.

In some places, people used to carry a padlock around a herd of horses in the belief that this would keep wolves away.

THE IMPORTANCE OF SOFAS

Although all the furniture pieces and accessories you use are obviously important to the overall look of any room, the fact is that the sofa usually serves as the one key piece because of its dominance, its use, and the way the rest of the furniture is planned around it.

Therefore, it's important that you take into account all the many different considerations in selecting a sofa because it is such a major piece.

We can give you help in these considerations. For instance, in choosing a sofa, aside from those two basics — its beauty and its comfort — be sure it has the right size and shape for the rest of your room. Texture is another consideration. And be sure to consider the color of the sofa in relation to your overall color scheme. Another thing to think about is the fabric. There are so many wonderful choices in fabrics today that can do so much for both the looks of your sofa and its wearability.

All these things are important, and remember we're here to assist you, and help you get a sofa you'll be happy with. Also remember in today's decorating, sofas don't have to be confined to just the living room. Perhaps the right sofa could also be beautiful and useful in another room, too. In any case, feel free to stop in here.

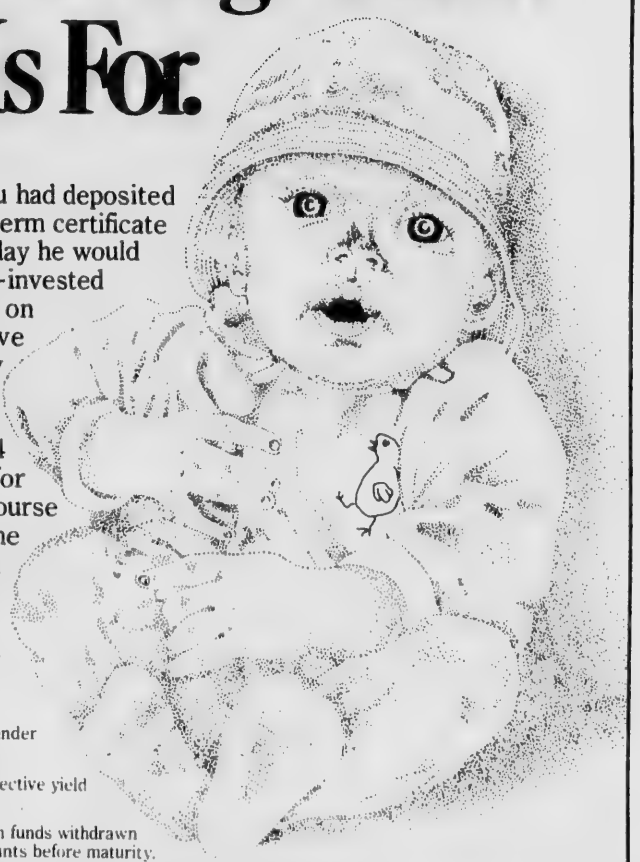
Growing Is What A Savings Bank Is For.



When he was born, if you had deposited $1000. into an 8 year term certificate on his 8th birthday he would have $1913.41. If you then re-invested that for another 8 years on his 16th birthday he would have $3661.33. Since he's not quite ready for college you could re-invest that for 2½ years so that when he's ready for college he'll have $4344.64 which would cover his expenses for the four years he's there. Of course that is only one plan. With the variety of term certificates available, you and your bank officer could plan an investment program that will suit your individual needs.

All deposits INSURED IN FULL under Massachusetts law.

Kites Soar To Awards

It turned out to be the perfect day for the Department of Community Services' second annual Kite Flying Contest held on Saturday, May 5 at the Sacred Heart field in Shawsheen. This special event brought together participants of all ages and kite flying ability to enjoy the fabulous Spring weather available this past weekend. Kites of various shapes and colors managed to stay airborne despite the gusting winds that occasionally had kites weaving into trees.

The Streeter children, Ben, Beth and Julie, captured the attention of all participants with their homemade toothpick kites which brought them the smallest and funniest kite awards. The team of Susan Kachen and her father, George, ran away with the award for the largest kite as well as the kite with the longest tail. The most original kite on the field was Fred Newcomb, Jr.'s spectacular orange tetrahedral kite which he and his father assembled together. Jimmy Joslyn's beautiful California kite got tangled in the trees soon after the flying began and for his good sportsmanship he was given an honorable mention award. Nicole Griece received a brand new kite flying kit for her gallant efforts to get her kite off the ground. Despite her many attempts, Nicole's kite simply would not stay airborne. There were many children and adults that enjoyed themselves at the contest this past Saturday.

David G. Roberts, Jr. of Andover participated in the Eastern Professional Ski Instructors Assoc. (EPSIA) Associate Pre-Course and exam held March 19-23 at Mount Snow Ski Resort in southern Vermont. Roberts, an instructor at Merrimack Valley Ski Area, was one of 155 ski teachers from throughout the East taking part in the five day event which offered registered EPSIA members the opportunity to attain multi-level certification.

Stop Fire Before It Starts

Nearly 3.5 million fires occured in the United States in 1977, resulting in a total property loss of $6 million. In addition, fire has become the third most common cause of fatal accidents in the U.S. In 1977, 9,950 civilians died as a result of fire, an increase of 13 percent over the previous year. Of these deaths, approximately 7,800 (78 percent) occured in residential blazes.

Since most of the fires were in people's homes and apartments, Liberty Mutual Insurance Co., offers some suggestions on how to safeguard a residence against fire.

Have a service technician inspect all portable heating equipment before you put it away for the summer. It's also a good idea to check it again before using it during the winter months. Although space heaters provide comfort, they can be a fire hazard if they are not cleaned often or if they have defective wiring. If you do have occasion to use them on a chilly spring evening, make certain they are placed away from such combustibles as bedding, curtains and furniture. Also, be sure that space heaters are positioned away from household trafffic, as small children and pets could accidentally cause a fire by knocking over the heaters.

Have your chimney cleaned and inspected now that winter is over. A clean chimney helps insure a safe fireplace for the cold winter months. Never use a fireplace that is not equipped with a wire of glass screen.

Properly replace all fuses. Be sure that your fuse box or circuit breaker unit is operating correctly. Replace all burned out fuses with ones of the same size.

Keep matches away from children. Teach your children fire-safe habits at an early age. Instruct them not to play with matches or lighters, and always keep such sources of fire out of their reach. Also, never store cookies (or other "goodies" attractive to children) above the stove, since a child could accidentally ignite the stove or be severly burned by one already turned on.

Let your TV and stereo "breathe." Allow adequate air space around your television and stereo equipment to prevent overheating. If the equipment is not working properly, have it checked immediately (or don't use it), as it could be a fire hazard.

Keep a close check on wiring. Make certain all electrial extension cords are in the open rather than under carpets, over books or through door openings — and inspect them regularly for wear. Refrain from overloading electrical outlets and be sure your home is equipped with special circuits for heavy-duty appliances such as air conditioners and washing machines.

Liberty Mutual suggests that gasoline and other flammable liquids always be stored in metal safety containers, since an open flame could easily ignite the fumes. Store it in a well-ventilated area where leakage cannot be ignited such as the outside garden shed. Also, move your gasoline storage can away from your power mower before starting it, as a stray spark could ignite the fumes and cause an explosion.

If you smoke, be careful. Never smoke in bed, and if you feel drowsey, don't smoke while relaxing in a chair. Never smoke near flammable liquids or in a confined or cluttered area such as an attic or cellar where a live ash could smolder and ignite. Use large ashtrays that are free of paper and cellophane, and douse the ashtray's contents with water before emptying.

If you have a work area, keep it clean and fire safe. All flammable items should be cleared away from the workbench; paint and solvent containers should be kept closed and away from all sources of ignition; and soiled rags, wood scraps and other combustible debris should be removed and stored outside in a metal container. Power tools (as well as all electrical appliances) should have a testing agency label of approval, be kept in good repair and be properly stored.

"Fireproof" your garage. Keep it clean and uncluttered. Clean the floor often to avoid a build-up of dried leaves, oil, grease drippings and other combustibles. Also, try to minimize the accumulation of overflow storage from your house.

Keep a fire extinguisher handy. If you purchase only one fire extinguisher to fulfill your safety needs, Liberty Mutual suggests it be a "multi-purpose," dry chemical extinguisher. Because many fires originate in the living room or kitchen, it is best to locate one extinguisher where it can be reached quickly from either room.

In second-floor bedroom areas, the extinguisher should be located in a closed or cabinet along the hallway or other exit route. For added protection, you may consider purchasing a smoke detection device which senses a fire in its early stages and sounds an alarm heard throughout the house.

Above all, use the fire department. It's a good idea to schedule a professional home fire inspection

Oil Savings

Pulp, paper, sawmills and plywood plants in the U.S. obtain 45 percent of their energy each year from their own residues, a savings of 160 million barrels of oil, Massachusetts Audubon says.

In the latest periods, there were 6.3 million average shares outstanding, as compared to last year's 6.0 million shares.

Announcing the latest results, Mr. Hogan indicated that Standex's outstanding performance resulted from "important contributions" by each of our product groups and added that "all of our major operations are strong and increasingly profitable." Among the operations making a particularly strong showing, Mr. Hogan mentioned the firm's "Texturization" operations throughout the world; institutional products, including furniture, refrigeration and casters; Standard Publishing's printing and publishing operations; and the consumer mail order divisions. In addition, Mr. Hogan mentioned the significant turn-around at Club Products following three years of sizable losses. He added that the electronics operations continue to grow at a healthy rate.

Another major factor in Standex's impressive results, Mr. Hogan added, was the contributions of the eight "excellent acquisitions" consummated over the past 18 months. "Each of these units is now contributing to corporate growth", he said

Beefalo

Beefalo, a cross between cattle and buffalo, thrive on weeds, thistle bushes, twigs, hay and silage; they need no grain. The meat is twice as high in protein as regular beef; the heavy coats are used by furriers, Massachusetts Audubon notes.

Local Realtors Are Appointed

The National Association of Realtors has named two Andover residents to serve on its committees during 1979, according to Donald I. Hovde, president.

Hovde, a Madison, Wisc., realtor, said NAR committees deal with such subjects as condominiums, home protection, economics and research, education, energy conservation, Make America Better, neighborhood revitalization, political affairs, and legislation. In addition, there are some 30 related committees in the Massachusetts Association of Realtors, headed by John M. Peckham III of Boston.

The 1979 NAR appointments include Joseph B. Doherty to the executive committee and legal action committees, and Douglas Howe, Jr., equal opportunity committee. They are from the Greater Lawrence Board of Realtors.

"Through committee work," Hovde said, "members directly and indirectly help the Association protect the historic right of all Americans to own land and a home of their choosing.

The Association is the nation's largest business/trade organization. Headquartered in Chicago, it has more than 700,000 members in 50 state associations, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, and Guam.

Honored

Dr. Joseph J. Herskovits, an Andover resident, was among the 163 employees honored for 1300 years of combined service at the Service Award Ceremony and reception at McLean Hospital, Belmont, last week.

Employees assembled at the hospital's Samuel Eliot Memorial Chapel where they heard Dr. Francis de Marneffe, director, give a congratulatory address and watched as friends were awarded their service pins.

Dr. Herskovits was recognized for five years of service.

Tons Discarded

In 1977 the U. S. discarded 672 million tons of iron scrap (36 million more tons than in 1975) which if recycled would have lowered pollution levels and saved energy and iron ore, Massachusetts Audubon reports.

P.A. Band In Festival

By Pamela Burdman

The Phillips Academy Concert Band traveled to Laconia, N.H. early last week to participate in the Brickyard Mountain High School Music Festival.

One of the largest high school musical events in the nation, the three-week festival will have been attended by over 5,500 students, directors, and chaperones by its final day, May 12. The competition involves choruses, concert bands and marching bands and awards total over $7,000 in trophies and prizes to two schools in each category.

The Brickyard Mountain Resort offered accomodations for the 80 schools from throughout New England, New York, and New Jersey.

The beautiful weekend weather made the trip quite pleasant. Andover's band, under the directorship of Richard Wilson, arrived in the late afternoon on Sunday, April 29 for their 24-hour stay.

Their only committment Sunday being a late-night rehearsal at the nearby concert hall, the students had free time for the rest of the night and the following morning. Many went swimming, played tennis, explored the area, and met students from the other bands. The small band, consisting of a scant 25 musicians, played before the judging panel at 2 p.m. on Monday afternoon. Considering the lack of many instruments, Mr. Wilson led the band to a commendable performance.

After listening to another band, the group departed for the two-hour bus ride back to Andover. In addition to the musical experience the trip was fun and enjoyable. According to Mr. Wilson, "We were handicapped by lack of numbers, not by lack of musicianship or spirit." He felt the festival was worthwhile and hopes to return next year.

Aquarium Offers Whale Watch Trips

The New England Aquarium will sponsor seven day-long whale watching trips from Boston this spring. The trips, which promise to be a "whale" of a good time, as well as an educational adventure, will depart from the Aquarium wharf at 8:30 a.m. on Saturday and Sunday, May 19 and 20, Saturday, Sunday, and Monday, May 26, 27 and 28, and Saturday and Sunday, June 2 and 3. They will provide a full day at sea on the 110-foot 'Amberjack,' returning approximately 4 p.m., depending upon whales, wind and weather. The boat has lots of open deck space and a large cabin in case of poor weather. Breakfast, lunch and refreshments may be purchased on board.

The 'Amberjack,' will sail to area off Cape Cod where whales are annually seen at this time of year. Whales will most likely be spotted in Cape Cod Bay, or near Stellwagon Bank, the prime location for sightings. It is believed that whales flock to these areas because of the availability of food sources.

While whale sightings cannot be guaranteed, according to Jacquie Buehler, coordinator of the program, the chances for sightings are excellent during this time of year.

To Participate In Seminar In China

At the invitation of the Peoples Republic of China, Steve Zaimes, a department manager at Wang Labs, Tewksbury, will be among a delegation visiting mainland China for the purpose of developing friendship and understanding through a technical exchange seminar. There is no specific itinerary. It will be specifically a get-acquainted tour and to gather information to develop a continual interest. Expected visit will be this May.

Zaimes has been employed since 1969 as production manager at Wang. A resident of Andover, and a member of the Andover School Building Advisory Committee, he is an active representative for Career Education in Secondary Schools and the National Alliance for Businesses.

In 1975, he and his wife Althea moved from Peabody, with their children Andrea, who is at Andover High, Kerry at East Jr. High, and Stephen, enrolled at Bancroft School.

Born and raised in the North Shore area, he graduated from Lynn Public Schools and Mechanical Engineering at Lowell Technical Institute. He lived in Peabody for 16 years and was active in many Jackrabbits are not rabbits; they are hares. Fossils 60 million years old indicate that they are among the oldest known land mammals. Hares are born with their eyes open and they are well-furred. Rabbits are born naked and with closed eyes, according to Massachusetts Audubon.

Gillette Reports Strong Quarter

Sales and earnings of The Gillette Company advanced strongly in the first quarter of 1979, Colman M. Mockler, Jr., chairman and chief executive officer, told the annual meeting of stockholders at Andover recently.

Sales for the three months ended March 31, were$457,222,000, an increase of 15% from $398,712,000 in 1978. Pretax income was $51,761,000 compared with $42,401,000 a year earlier, up 22%. Consolidated net income of $30,853,000 rose 38% from $22,283,000 in 1978. Earnings per share of $1.02 compared with $.74 the prior year. First quarter results are not necessarily indicative of those for the full year.

Sales of Gillette North America were slightly up from the first quarter of the year earlier while operating profits were slightly lower. Gillette International's sales were well above the first quarter of 1978 and operating profits were higher.Sales of the Braun group were sharply up and operating profits were above those of the prior year's first quarter. Sales of Diversified Companies were above the first quarter of 1978 and operating profits were strongly ahead.

Mr. Mockler said that consolidated profit from operations was approximately $61.5 million in the first quarter, up 10% from $56.1 million in 1978.

Net exchange loss in the quarter was $1.1 million compared with $6.4 million in the first quarter of 1978. The lower exchange loss was largely attributable to the rapid upward movement of the German mark against the United States dollar at the close of the Braun AG 1978 fiscal year. Under the translation rules specified by Financial Accounting Standards Board Statement No. 8, some of the benefit resulting from appreciation in the value of Braun's German inventories was recognized in the first quarter of 1979.

The effective tax rate dropped in the quarter due primarily to lower taxes on foreign income, including the effect of currency fluctuations, and in part to the decrease in the United States corporate income tax rate.

"Looking ahead to the remainder of 1979, Gillette will continue to benefit from its strong market position and the broad geographic distribution of its products," Mr. Mockler said.

"Uncertainties do exist, particularly with regard to the threat of economic recession in the United States and continuing high rates of inflation here and in many other countries. Additionally, the impact of exchange fluctuations caused by rapidly changing economies in many countries is difficult to predict.

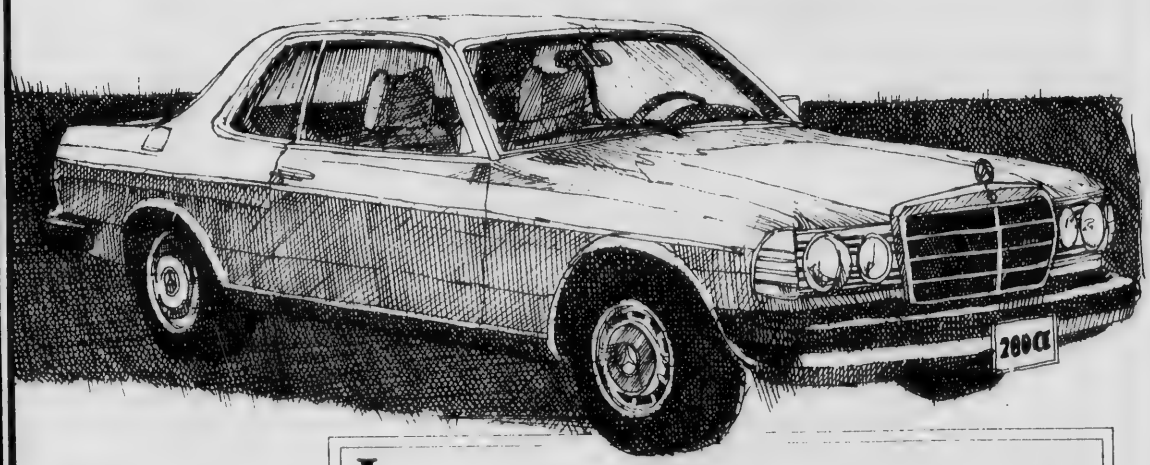
The 280 CE Coupe— a thinly disguised Mercedes-Benz performance car.



It's not a sports car and it's not a sedan. The 280 CE is both, though its heritage and behavior owe more to Mercedes-Benz racing experience than anything else. It proves that a 2-door automobile needn't be impractical and a practical automobile needn't be dull.

Itek Sales Increase

Itek Corporation today reported net income of $854,000 or 24 cents a share on record sales of $69,696,000 for the quarter ended march 30, 1979.

In the first quarter of 1978, the high technology company, which produces and distributes aerospace, graphic and vision products internationally, reported net income of $82,000 or three cents a share on sales of $57,711,000.

All Itek businesses reported higher sales and income during the first three months of this year compared with the same period a year ago, according to Itek president Robert P. Henderson.

Although Itek's sales are traditionally on the low side during the first quarter, Henderson said that the company "had a vibrant first quarter" this year with sales reaching a record high and earnings exceeding the comparable quarter for each of the prior five years. Henderson added that earnings were affected during the quarter by adverse movements in foreign currency values — particularly in Japanese yen — reducing earnings by approximately three cents per share.

Itek's government business continued to surge, primarily due to sales of its airborne radar warning and power management systems to the U. S. and international customers and a current contract backlog of $131 million.

Graphic Products' sales were up significantly in the quarter. Earnings for this business area more than doubled those reported in the 1978 first quarter.

Sales and earnings of vision products reflected improvement in the initial 1979 quarter over the first three months of last year.

Henderson said that Itek's government backlog should serve as a partial buffer against any recessionary trends and that general business conditions for Itek should continue on the positive side.

ed, compromises between competing viewpoints will have to be made, if the project is to be successful and a building program developed."

He invited public participation in the planning process, in order to obtain as many viewpoints as possible to reach a final decision.

"But there must be compromise in order to achieve a good educational plant for Andover. Peripheral issues must be scrapped and what is best for the town become the prime consideration," Clark said. "If that doesn't happen, then no new construction will take place and we will be in an untenable situation at the junior and senior high school levels.

Last Friday in announcing the intent to withdraw the advisory article from town meeting consideration this week, Chairman Viehmann and Gropper issued the following statement:

During the past week a number of additional building alternatives have been explored in a limited way. There are some indications at this time that it may be more economical to select a school building project other than what is presently being proposed. The evaluation of these alternatives will involve input to the School Committee from the school administration, building committee, architects and the townspeople.

Therefore, at the request of the School Committee, the School Building Committee mutually agrees to withdraw Article 15 at the upcoming Town Meeting.

When a final proposal is developed, the School Committee and School Building Committee will return to Town Meeting."

Voter Info Given

"Is it possible to recall a state official if you're not satisifed with his/her performance," a disgruntled caller recently asked the Voter Information Phone, sponsored by the League of Women Voters.

The VIPhone volunteer replied that although some cities and towns in the Commonwealth provide for recall of their own locally elected officials, there is no provision in the State Constitution for recall. The only way to remove elected officials at the state level is through the impeachment process. This means that the House of Representatives must initiate proceedings against the official, and then he or she must be tried by the Senate.

This question is one of many now being answered by the Voter Information Phone, a free, statewide public service of the League of Women Voterss Lotte E. Scharfman Memorial Fund. Individuals with questions about government — local, state, or national — may call the VIPhone Monday through Friday between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. The number in the Boston area is 357-5880; callers elsewhere in Massachusetts should dial 1-800-882-1649.

FINANCING INCOME-PROPERTY

If you are contemplating the purchase of income property, the question of how large a mortgage loan you should have will undoubtedly arise. Those who specialize in this type of real estate, almost to a man, go on the philosophy that income property should be purchased with as large a mortgage as possible — provided the property yields enough net income to meet mortgage payments.

From the standpoint of investment analysis, it can be shown that this policy usually gives the greatest capital gain, the largest amount of tax-free income, and the largest percentage of investment return.

In no other investment do you have the opportunity to use leverage (a small percentage of your money to a great percentage of another's) like you do in real estate. So, the larger the mortgage loan, the further your own money will go.

* * * * *

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at THE HOWE AGENCY, 4 Punchard Ave., Andover. Phone: 475-5100. We're here to help.

115 very happy families are looking for 5 new neighbors

As the cost of land and building materials continue to rise and housing gets scarcer and scarcer, an investment in a Millpond Townehome becomes more and more attractive.

Millpond is a small community built on a 22 acre historic site, rugged in style, private by design, overlooking Stevens Pond.

$91,800 to $123,000

Of course we're not inexpensive, but with taxes of up to one-fourth of what you'd pay in Boston, Lexington or Concord ($1143 on a $91,800 townehome) we're less expensive than you would imagine.

Millpond Townehomes

With a total of 120 townehomes, there are only a few left, all in prime locations including Bloomingdale's decorated models and choice waterfront sites.

Millpond office open 10:00-6:00.
For appointment call 685-7975.

Millpond: an extraordinary community of contemporary townehomes in historic North Andover.

Only 30 minutes from Boston.

Witchcraft Exhibit At Institute

The most recent painting, purchased last by the Essex Institute, Salem, is a large oil, "Examination of a Witch," by T. H. Matteson, a well-known New York artist of genre, hisotrical, allegorical and religious scenes in the mid-19th century. Executed in 1853, this provocative canvas is the only known companion painting to the Institute's "The Trial of George Jacobs," which has been on display at the Essex Insitute for many years. These two works are believed to be the best painting representations of the 1692 Salem witchcraft phenomenon. Both are outstanding examples of the mid-19th century school of American romantic historical scene painting so well exhibited by Matteson's skills.

The Essex Institute's prized witchcraft paintings will be the chief focal points of a special exhibition, "Salem Witches: Myth and Reality," which will run through September. This show will explore the actuality of the witchcraft episode through original artifacts and documents from the Institute's rich collection. During the middle of the Victorian era, interest in Salem witchcraft tales revived, Salem became widely popularized. The second section of the exhibition, in which Matteson's two dramatic canvases will be installed, will examine this facet of the story. Included will be a slide-tape show documenting the popular growth of the Salem witch legend, in fact as well as in fiction.
